[FROM OUR SUNDAY'S EDITION.]

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, November 14.—Recruiting for the Cuban expedition is said to have ceased in this city. Col. Gibbons having already enrolled 6500 men, which is 1500 more than he wants. He alleges that the whole command is to devolve upon a wealthy Havanese, who is famous as a military leader under Don Carlos and Maximilian, and who, so far, has furnished all the funds necessary. The intention is to annex Cuba to the Union. A public meeting is to be held in relation to the matter in Cooper Institute.

An elevator lying in the Atlantic dock basin, Brooklyn, was nearly destroyed by fire last night. Loss, $50,000. Supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

As M. John T. Shumaker, Congressman elect from the Second District of New York, alighted from a Broadway stage at the corner of Amity street, he was set upon by three men. One of them stole a diamond pin, valued at $1000, from Shumaker's shirt bosom, and passed it to a confederate, who made his escape. Two of the robbers, giving their names as William B. Roberts and John E. Tonenhusen, were arrested on the spot.

The Herald's London special says Mr. Burlingame and the Chinese embassadors will be officially received by the Queen, at Windsor, on the 20th inst.

At a meeting held by the various political clubs in Madrid, it was unanimously resolved to accept a monarchial form of government, not based on a divine right, but a sovereignty of the people expressed by universal suffrage.

A Mexican special to the Herald says the Government deems it inexpedient to bring before Congress the recent treaties drawn up between Secretary Seward and Mr. Romero. The concession to the Mexico and Vera Cruz Railroad has been formally agreed to. A bill in favor of American railroad and telegraphic enterprises has passed a second reading.

Advices from St. Domingo state that the insurrection against the Belize Government is in active progress.

The Herald's Porto Rico correspondent says that from 800 to 1000 prisoners are held in Oricibo, some of them being the most prominent men in the island. Those taken in arms are to be tried by military courts, and will probably be shot. The island, according to government reports, is now tranquil.

The Herald says a private letter from a prominent insurgent in Cuba states that the revolutionary Junta in Havana have sworn to destroy the property of every individual who shall, over his own signature, life, wealth or protection, favor the government cause. In no other case shall property be attacked.

The South American news received today states that earthquakes have continued all along the coasts of Chili and Peru. In Capirpa severe shocks have been experienced, doing considerable damage to property, but no lives were lost. A very heavy one occurred on the 13th of October, lasting nearly three minutes. Another lasted four minutes.

It is thought a bloody civil war is imminent in Chili, growing out of the support given to Evvasuriez for the Presidency.

A terrible collision occurred on East river, this morning, between the Fulton ferry boats Union and Hamilton as the latter was entering the slip on the New York side. Both boats were badly damaged. A boy named George Brower, apprentice at the printing business, was killed, and Wm. Brock, a fellow-apprentice, fatally injured. The following persons were also fatally injured: George Devor, since died; John Thompson, Alfred Hart, Francis Mearly and Wm. Cummings. The following are badly hurt, limbs broken, etc.: Kate Farrell, Julia Mahon, Mrs. Quinby, Charles Gamlish, Mrs. and Miss Carrigan, Michael Hart, Wm. De Caballiro, Michael Morrell, Sarah Clark, Lizzie Clark, Charles Grass, Eliza Camperon, Mrs. Schanuel, Julia Darley, Catherine Mancelly, Miss Cunningham, and a number of others, whose names as yet are unknown.

Panama advices state that the United States Consul, as well as other representatives of foreign governments, advises Americans, if increased contribution is enforced, to file protests with him, and they will be forwarded to Washington. He regards the contributions as an extraordinary tax. The various Consuls have united in a remonstrance against the tax, which is levied to aid the Revolutionists against the Government.

Dispatches from Hartford, Poughkeepsie, Fort Monroe and Richmond mention brilliant meteoric showers during the night.

The number of meteors seen here last night were 2500 by actual count.

Gen. Grant left the Metropolitan Hotel for West Point, accompanied by Mrs. Grant and Gen. Dent. He will return Monday.

A Washington special says private advices from authoritative English sources are to the effect that the English Government has agreed to withdraw her title of joint occupancy in the Island of San Juan.

ST. LOUIS.

ST LOUIS, November 14.—The Times of this morning says about thirty young men, under the leadership of two or three old filibusters, held a meeting here last night, and an organization was effected with a view to raise an expedition to Cuba.

The Bunker Hill (Ill.) Gazette states in substance that in a barn attached to a place where a tavern has been kept for years, in the vicinity of that town, the remains of three human beings have been found buried beneath the floor, and that the skeletons of five other men, supposed to have been murdered, have been discovered in the neighborhood of the same premises. The inn-keeper is suspected of having been engaged in robbery and murder for years. The Gazette says he has been arrested, and is now in prison waiting trial, bail having been refused.

PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, November 14.—In the contested election cases before the Court of Common Pleas to-day, a motion was made by the Democratic lawyers to quash the petitions on the ground that the affidavits are defective. The Court fixed Friday next for the argument on the motion.

A building used for wintering Forepaugh's menagerie was totally destroyed by fire to-day. Several valuable animals were consumed, and others escaped into the street, causing great alarm, but did no damage. A large African lion was caught in the street by throwing over him a box used for making mortar. A leopard rushed into a house where there were several women and children, but the beast was much frightened and took refuge in a cellar without biting any one.

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 14.—There was an extraordinary meteor shower here last night, commencing about 10:30 p.m. and lasting nearly an hour. At 2 a.m. the display rivaled in splendor that of November 14, 1867. Several meteors left trails of light distinguishable for many seconds. The general direction appeared to be from east to west.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

CHARLESTON, November 14.—A brilliant meteoric shower was observed here at 1 a.m.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, November 14.—The following is the official report from Commodore Sands, Superintendent of the Naval Observatory, in regard to the recent meteoric showers, received at the Navy Department this evening:

WASHINGTON, November 14, 1868.

Sir: I have the honor to submit the following preliminary report of the meteoric shower of this morning: During the evening of the 13th inst. there were no greater number of meteors to be seen than are usually observed on clear nights, until about 11 p.m., when there seemed to be an increase in number and brilliancy, though not sufficient to indicate the beginning of a shower. At midnight the number had considerably increased, and the prevalence of trains was generally noted. At thirty-five minutes past midnight the Observatory party, consisting of Prof. Eastman and Messrs. Harrison, Frisby and Hays, began to count meteors and to spot the tracks of the principal ones. At 1:35 over 300 meteors had been counted. They were quite brilliant, having green, blue or red trains. Thus far the display had not been confined to any portion of the sky, but most of them were in the northern and southern heavens, scarcely in position to be placed in the star chart. Many of the trains were visible several minutes; one lasted ten minutes, and traces near B Ursa Minor were seen 30 minutes after the appearance of the meteor. After 1:50, Prof. Eastman, assisted by Mr. Harrison, devoted his time to mapping and noting time of the apparition of the principal meteors, and succeeded in sketching tracks of about 90 during one hour and 40 minutes. Four hundred have been counted, and afterwards successive hundreds were observed in the following intervals. The intervals are here given by Com. Sands' observations, and were continued until after six a.m., at which time there had been counted 5075. At 2:20 a.m. Prof. Nunn and son joined the party of observers and assisted in counting meteors in the western heavens. During the whole display there were many meteors seen in the west, but from five to six the number were about equal in the east and west. The time of maximum frequency was about five hours, when they fell at the rate of 250 per hour. The radient point was quite well defined during the latter end of the shower, and was found by estimation to be 149 degrees in right ascension, and twenty minutes thirty seconds in declination. The trails were unusually brilliant, presenting the various green, orange, blue and red, and remained visible for an unusual time, and frequently all could be seen at once.

FOREIGN.

LONDON, November 14.—The sky was clouded last night. No meteors were seen.

MADRID, November 14.—The provisional government has declared all Spanish colonial ports free. Anchorage duties are abolished.

BERLIN, November 14.—Count Sondegaliz, the Prussian Embassador at Paris, has resigned. Von Werther, the present Minister to Austria, has been appointed to fill the vacancy.

LISBON, November 14.—The mail steamer brings later news from the seat of war. The allied army was before Augustora. The Paraguayans came out in force and attacked it, but were repulsed with a loss of 380 killed and wounded. It was fully confirmed that President Lopez has shot his brothers Benjanle and Henzid. Many of Lopez' troops are deserting.

CANADA.

QUEBEC, November 14.—His Excellency Lord Monck and family sailed by S. S. Victoria this morning. The usual compliments were paid him.

Charles Wyndham has been sworn in as administrator of the Government. It is stated on good authority that the new Governor-General will leave England sooner than was expected. It was thought probably he may arrive by the steamer Austrian, due here in a few days.

The Dominion Privy Council left for Ottawa this morning.

MEMPHIS APPEAL

MONDAY MORNING NOV. 16, 1868

THE LAST ADDRESS.

As per announcement, in the APPEAL, Dr. ROGERS yesterday made his last address as an Episcopal pastor. The occasion was one of a mixed character, partaking of the nature of an ovation by a popular divine and of a leave-taking by an affectionate rector and priest of his parishioners and friends. In another column we print a resume of the Doctor's address. It will be seen that it is made up mainly of these arguments that are usually advanced by converts to Catholicity. The infallibility of the Church, and the necessity for Christian unity, were thoroughly elucidated by the Reverend gentleman from his present stand-point; and he closed by exhorting those present to think seriously of the positions they occupy as Ritualists, as by the authority of the Bishop ritualism is hereafter dead in Tennessee. They can occupy no half-way ground. He recognized the fact, and submitted thus much to the authority of the Bishop of Tennessee, but hereafter his allegiance was due to Rome. He then bade the congregation a "touching, sad farewell," and left the chancel forever.

The scene upon his departure was of a truly sorrowful character. Many of those present had known the convert, as we must now speak of him, from boyhood. They had watched his course in the ministry. They were familiar with all his peculiarities of manner—the idiosyncracies of a man who endeared himself in spite of them, to a large circle. The erratic clergyman was forgotten in presence of the sincere and earnest avowal of doctrines and beliefs to which the neophyte had been for months gradually moving. They could go no farther with him. He had reared an impassable wall between them and himself. A few doubtless sympathised fully, but the congregation en masse remained doctrinally immovable. In the deepest recesses of their hearts all were touched. All theatricism of action or gesture was lost in the grief that possessed the people for their pastor—a pastor whose trials and struggles we join the people in hoping are over, and that in the Church to which he has gone he will find that repose and peace scarcely found by him in that which he has left.

The Episcopal Church in Tennessee can now move on in the old way. Ritualism is dead in the person of its boldest advocate, most thorough defender and most eloquent apologist. He has followed Cardinal WISEMAN where all others of a Ritualistic turn are sure, sooner or later, to go. Our friend said truly yesterday: "There is no middle ground for Ritualists."

SUNSHINE—A THOUGHT FOR IMMIGRANTS.

The Petersburg Index calls attention to the important relation borne by "sunshine" to labor and capital. For instance, it says:

It ripens fruits and matures vegetables in Eastern Virginia a month or more earlier than it does in the vicinity of New York and other Northern cities. It happens that these cities are in a few hours' communication with Eastern Virginia, either by land or water, and they are enormous consumers of the products of our orchards and gardens. Now "sunshine" enables us to monopolize the market of these Northern cities a month before the products of their neighborhood come in competition with us. This is an immense advantage, for not only do we monopolize the market but obtain prices greatly in advance of those which the same articles will command later in the season. Whether this generation is wise enough to avail itself of this "sunshine" remains to be seen. But whether it does or not there can be no doubt that Eastern Virginia will at some future day become literally and truly a "garden spot."

And what is true of Eastern Virginia is true of West Tennessee, any part of which is within a few hours of Louisville, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Chicago, by railroad. Last season our farmers made this apparent, and in part realized the benefits of sunshine in the ready sale they found in those cities for peaches, apples, potatoes, and vegetables of every description, that ripen with us four weeks before they can be gathered in Ohio, Illinois, or any of the Northwestern States.

But read what the Index says, suggestively, for immigrants to the South:

Let any one take a map and cast his eye over that portion of it occupied by the Southern States. There they lie basking in the smiles of the god of day. There they lie, saying: "come and till us, come and reap us." But touch their soil with plow or spade, and the wilderness literally becomes "go den." That solitude cannot long be resisted. It woos with the potency of beauty and of gold, and some day these broad acres will answer it with laughing harvests. The wheat will wave welcome to it and the corn will nod to it with dancing plume, while its leaves rustle like a sweetheart's dress.

"sun shine" will yet make the South the regal, the most joyous land on earth. Come hither, oh, ye immigrants, and pitch your tents anywhere between the Potomac and the Rio Grande. That sunny smile is not the smile of a capricious and coquettish girl. It means what it says. It means corn and oil and wine and milk; it means silk and cotton, and flax and hemp—all that clothes the body and all that clothes it.

Look at this, ye toilers for a scanty subsistence upon a sterile soil—look at this one fact! Before the War and the addition of labor-screen merely scratched the surface of this Southern soil, and the value of its agricultural exports was greater than that of any five nations in the world.

There is room here, and to spare, for fifty millions of laborers. Let them come. The great sunny South will give them a welcome as genial as her clime, and as hospitable as her soil. Let them come. It is a land of railroads and rivers; of rich and cheap farms. It is a land of beautiful women, and of men as brave and as magnanimous as ever confronted or forgave a foe. It is the home of a white race, the most law abiding and orderly on the face of God's earth. Come, then, there is nothing to deter you, and, if you will but come, the political troubles which now auhoy the South will be as evanescent as the dew which will evaporate from her flowers and her forests in the bright smiles of to morrow's sun.

JUDAS ISCARIOT.

The Cairo Democrat, the howling, teeth-gnashing, rampant, Democratic paper of but a day since, has been converted to Radicalism, and came out yesterday as a "ranting, tearing Radical." We wish them joy of their "six by three" in the political potter's field.

THE STATE TAX ON COMMERCE.

The Nashville Banner, in an article published a few days since, urged upon the Legislature the serious detriment to our commercial interests of certain legislative impositions in the shape of a discriminating taxation in favor of merchants out of the State, to the great injury of our home interests, and the embarrassment in an especial sense of our wholesale trade. The subject has long since been exhausted by the Memphis press. In sheer despair of ever making any adequate impression upon the Legislature we gave it up, leaving to time and the force of a farther detrimental experience by the merchants of the State the accomplishment of a repeal of the obnoxious system. This experience is at last beginning to tell. Parties interested in the matter in other portions of the State are becoming restive, and are sending up their complaints to the Legislature. The Knoxville Whig (BROWNLOW'S paper) has taken up the cudgels for the merchants, and makes a suggestion for the Legislature in the following practical and sensible remarks:

TAX ON MERCHANTS.—By an act of the Legislature, passed on the 8th of March last, a tax of one per cent. was levied on all goods purchased by merchants, wherever purchased. This works a great hardship against our wholesale merchants, and gives wholesale merchants of other States an advantage which should not be. As the law now stands, the tax on goods purchased in New York is the same as on goods purchased in this State. A merchant of Knox county must pay the same tax on goods purchased from Cowan & McClung, or any other of our wholesale merchants, as on purchases made outside of the State. Goods purchased by Cowan & McClung, or any wholesale merchant, outside of the State, have a State tax levied upon them, and when they are sold to their customers another State tax is assessed, thus requiring a tax to be paid on the same goods twice.

This seems to us a discrimination against our home merchants, instead of protection, as it should be. Whether our legislators ever thought or this we are unable to say, but if the matter was considered with deliberation, we can but believe an erroneous view was taken. If it is necessary to raise more taxes to meet the liabilities of the State, the taxes should not be raised in a way to discriminate in favor of the interests of merchants out of the state to the exclusion of our home interests. Much more might be said against such a measure, but we wish to merely call the attention of the Legislature to the inconsistency thereof, with the hope that relief may be had for our merchants.

Perhaps this would be an opportune moment for our Chamber of Commerce to take some action in the matter, by the presentation of a petition praying for the repeal of the whole tax. Nothing short of that will afford the required relief.

AS A BEGINNING to retrenchment of the expenses of the Government, the New York Times urges that President GRANT'S salary shall be quadrupled. Of course, if a man who gets $25,000 a year ought to get four times as much, each subordinate Radical will see a still better reason for a like increase in his emoluments. This is the reasoning of the Times:

The salary of the President is $25,000 a year. It was fixed at this sum in the early days of the Government. At that time it represented five times as much, if not ten times as much, as it represents now. It is altogether too small to support the President in proper style, and to enable him to meet his necessary expenditures as Chief Executive of the nation. It ought to be, at the very lowest, $100,000. We have no doubt that the next Congress will take some action in this matter. President Grant should not be compelled to live in the cheap boarding-house style.

FOREIGN.

PARIS, November 14.—Rossini, the great Italian musical composer, died today in his 77th year.

BERLIN, November 14.—The Prussian Budget was submitted to the Diet to-day. Baron Von Derheyt, Finance Minister, in his remarks said the financial difficulties of Prussia were merely transitory, and that affairs in Europe were favorable to the preservation of peace.

Nothing of official character has yet been made public or submitted to the Diet with reference to the umpireship of King William on the question of claims of the United States upon Great Britain, for depredations committed by the Alabama.

LONDON, November 14.—A fine meteorological display was witnessed by observers at Oxford University to-night.

Rio Janeiro advices to October 24 have been received. The news from Paraguay is that the allies have reconnoitered the position held by Lopez, and it is thought unassailable. Gen. McMahon, the new minister to Paraguay had arrived at Rio Janeiro, en route for the scene of his labors.

Advices from Buenos Ayres indicate that the new President of the Argentine Confederation, Sarmiento, is in favor of the continuance of war with Paraguay.

The elections absorb the attention of all classes of people. Little business will be done during the week. The cotton trade at Liverpool will be suspended Tuesday and Wednesday, and the breadstuffs market will probably be closed on those days. The London stock exchange will be closed Tuesday. Sanguine Liberals estimate that Gladstone will have a majority of 130 in the next House.

The prosecution by the French Government of the parties who promote subscriptions for a monument over the grave of M. Badin, one of the victims of the coup d'etat of the 2d of December, has resulted in the conviction of several journalists and others, all of whom have been heavily fined and punished by suspension of their civil rights. The decision of courts in these cases causes much popular indignation in Paris, and symptoms of agitation have appeared. The police and military authorities in the city are taking extraordinary precautions against disturbances.

FRANKFORT, November 15.—Bonds closed at 78½.

PARIS, November 15.—Bourse closed yesterday heavy. Rentes 70f.

HAVANA.

HAVANA, November 15.—The rebels appeared on the railroad track between Nuevetas and Puerto Principe. They captured a train of cars with a number of passengers on board. None of the latter were retained as prisoners but were allowed to proceed to their destination on hand cars. The baggage was plundered of its contents and the railroad track torn up for a considerable distance.

Heavy and continuous rains during the past week have prevented cane grinding on the plantations.

The United States flag ship Contoocook has arrived at this port from Norfolk.

PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, November 15.—The loss by the burning of Forepaugh's Menagerie last night is about $45 000, on which there was no insurance. None of the animals were burned, but a large number of expensive show wagons, tents, etc., were entirely destroyed. The loss on Roscoe & Clark's mill is about $18,000, partially insured.

This morning a building on North Seventh street, used as U. S. mint for nearly forty years, was destroyed by fire. Loss small.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, November 15.—Returns from ninety nine counties show that the proposition for a constitutional convention in this State is defeated.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

CAIRO, November 15.—Down—Belle Memphis, seven p.m.; Minneola, nine p.m.; Milbray, eleven p.m.; Dexter, one p.m.; Forsythe, three p.m. Up—City of Cairo, one a.m. River rose four inches.

ST. LOUIS, November 15.—Arrived—Marble City, Memphis; Lucy Bertram, Keokuk; Mollie Able and McGill, New Orleans. Departed—Kellogg and barges. River falling. Weather clear.

Rumor says that the Illinois Central Railroad Company will, immediately, build one or more large freight steamers to ply between Cairo and New Orleans, and carry all the freight of that road at lower rates than generally prevails.

FLORIDA.

TALLAHASSE, November 15.—Gov. Reed, in a requisition to the Justices of the Supreme Court for a written opinion on the legality of the impeachment, refers them to an article in the Constitution providing for an extraordinary session of the Legislature, by which only such business can be transacted as mentioned in the call, or brought before them while in session by the Governor, except by the unanimous consent of both houses. He also states that four persons who voted as Senators were not entitled to seats by his proclamation declaring their seats vacant, they having held since the last Legislature, one the office of Secretary of State, one that of Circuit Judge, one that of Clerk of the Court, and the other that of Solicitor. The Senate is composed of twenty-four members. Gov. Reed claims that there were only eight present, and consequently no extraordinary session was convened, and their acts are, therefore, of no force. The Governor says the officers of the State do not know, in the unsettled and anomalous state of things, whom they should recognize as the head of the Executive Department of the administration of the State Government obstructed and the peace and welfare of the whole State jeopardized. And he asks that their opinion on the points submitted be given at their earliest moment.

Saunders, an independent candidate for Congress, in quite a lengthy circular to the voters of the State, denounces the nomination of Hamilton by the Republicans as a fraud on the colored voters, and says Hamilton's supporters boasted of having cheated the voters out of their last chance.

Saunders in a circular, dated headquarters of the Union League of Florida, addressed to the members of the League, says that the Republican Nominating Convention has put up a man whose name alone insures defeat, and calls on the colored Republicans to send a live black man to the next Congress. Saunders signs himself Grand President of the Union League of Florida.

The Democrats have adopted Grant's motto: "Let us have peace."

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The wedding of Speaker Colfax and Miss Wade takes place at Andover, Ohio, on Wednesday next.

The amount of coin in the Treasury this date is about $87 000,000, of which $22 000,000 are represented by gold certificates.

A great many persons have arrived here from various States, seeking Government employment. Instead of increasing, the Departments are diminishing their forces, and therefore there is no prospect of success.

CHARLESTON.

CHARLESTON, November 14.—The hearing of the contested election case will begin to-morrow, according to law, before the City Council. Rumor says that an attempt will be made to-morrow to install Pillsbury as Mayor by force. All is quiet so far, but the deepest excitement prevails in the community.

FUNERAL NOTICE.

MCCLEARY—Died, at 7 o'clock on Sunday evening, W. H. McCleary, aged 10 months and 18 days, son of M. V and T. McCleary. Their friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend his funeral this Monday evening at 2 o'clock, from their residence corner of Breedlove and Valentine avenues.

WHEATON NURSERY

Established in 1840.

A LARGE variety of Ornamental Trees, Shrubbery, Evergreens and the finest varieties of Fruit Trees; also, a full assortment of Hardy Herbaceous Plants and Flowers, and everything usually found in a first class Nursery, which I offer for sale at GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.

The stock on hand having been unusually for the last few years, it becomes necessary, on account of a want of room, to dispose of the surplus which I will offer at greatly reduced prices, and cheaper than any Nursery north or south of this point can possibly furnish them.

They are the selections of the late Dr. Wheaton, whose long experience is the best guarantee of their being not only what they are represented to be, but as being peculiarly adapted to the Southern climate—a market for which he devoted his especial study.

In addition to the above, I have a very large stock of magnolias, which I can offer at greatly reduced prices, and which will be carefully packed for transportation by an experienced gardener.

Catalogues with prices and any information wanted, will be sent on applica ion to

DEMOCRACY IN THE UNITED STATES

What It Has Done, What It is Doing, and What It Will Do.

BY HON. RANSOM H. GILLET,

Formerly Member of Congress from St. Lawrence county, N. Y; more recently Registrar and Solicitor of the United States Treasury Department, and Solicitor for the United States in the Court of Claims, Etc.

IN one elegant volume, large 12mo, of over 400 pages, bound in extra cloth, and containing Maps and Portraits on steel of Jefferson, Jackson, Seymour and Blair, and including Biographical Sketches of the Democratic Nominees. Price, $2 00.

This admirable work contains a complete and spirited history of the Democratic party, from its origin down to the present time. It is a vast repotory of political and historical facts of profound interest to every citizen, and of value to every politician for reference. No political text-book is so complete, so full of reliable information, or so interesting as this. No Democrat can afford to be without it, as it supplies him with every fact bearing upon his senses now before the public. The author's experience dates far back into the early portion of the century; he was an associate of Silas Wright, he enjoyed the confidence and friendship of Jackson, Van Buren, Polk Taylor, Fillmore, Pierce and Buchanan, and, probably better than any man living, is acquainted with what the internal workings of parties have been for the last fifty years.

Mailed, post free, to any part of the United States on receipt of price.

Agents wanted to sell this book in every part of the Union. Clubs and Democratic organizations will be supplied at special rates.

MARAUDERS.—Two "female burglars" of the African persuasion, named Lucy and Julia Jones, made a raid yesterday on the house of a Mr. George Washington, a colored gentleman, who lives in the Devil's Elbow, and carried off, bodily, one stove, several pots, some chairs, a sofa, and some other furniture of a "promiscuous nature, too numerous to mention"—all this while George Washington was honorably and honestly engaged at his profession (which is whitewashing) away from home. The two beauties were arrested with the plunder in a wagon, taking it away, and were carried to the Second District station house.

A proportion of the attendance were ladies, and Rabbi Tuska delivered one of his best efforts, making an effect which guarantees the success of the project.

THE TAILOR makes the man in most communities, and although a man may have the erudition of a Johnson, or the eloquence of a Clay or a Webster, he will be thought very little of unless he is habitually neatly and well dressed. ## RITUALISM.

The Finale in Memphis.

Dr. Rogers bids a Farewell to it and closes the Church of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

An Affecting Scene.

Ritualism, which after struggling for a long time, amid violence and even blood shed, against the established services of the Church of England, in that country and which at last obtained a foothold there, too strong to be crushed out by the thunders of the Anglican Bishops, and crossed the Atlantic and domiciled itself in New York, burst upon Memphis some six weeks ago with an eclat seldom accorded to any movement, religious or secular. It was introduced by a man who had, from early boyhood, been identified with Memphis and with the Episcopal Church of the Southwest—the Rev. Dr. Rogers,—a man of whom all that knew him knew that he had devoted himself solely to the service of His Maker, and that every act of his, was to the furtherance of what he believed to be the interest of Christ's Church upon earth. The consequence was an immense attendance at his church, (one improvised for the occasion, at Greenlaw Opera House, and dedicated to the Blessed Virgin Mary). Of course many attended there out of courtesy, but members went there to hear the elucidation of matters of faith which had perplexed them with doubts. Each subsequent Sunday increased the throng of those who visited his church, and the clergy and faithful laity became alarmed at the progress of the new faith which he had introduced. The Bishop of the Diocese meanwhile took the matter in hand, and forbade Dr. Rogers to pursue the course which he had marked out for himself, and Dr. Rogers refused to obey the injunction. Ourreaders have been made aware of and kept posted in the controversy which ensued, and now at the late Ecclesiastical Council of the Episcopal Church the matter was left to the Bishop of each diocese to decide. As soon as Dr. Rogers learned this decision, he made up his mind to leave the church which forbade him the exercise of those rites which he deemed due to the mysterious Being whom we worship, and went to that church which his conscience told him was right and true. He accordingly announced in the APPEAL that he had renounced the Episcopal Church and had embraced the Catholic faith. Of course this took the community at large by surprise, but those who knew him best were prepared for the change. Speculation was rife, immediately, as to his probable future course, and whether he would attempt to perform service at his church on the ensuing Sunday, and yesterday an immense crowd assembled at the Greenlaw Opera House, to solve their doubts and hear his farewell discourse.

The want of space forbids our giving anything like a report of his farewell address. The chancel remained as we first described it. The altar, flowers, cross, and the background of woodland, were all there, but the candles were not lit, and a row of chairs had been moved across the front of the stage. The curtain was rolled up half way, and the whole stage wore a desolate and sorrowful aspect. The little acolytes were gone, and only the lectern remained as it originally was. At about quarter past eleven Dr. Rogers came before the audience in plain dress and addressed them.

After adverting to the peculiar circumstances under which he came before them, he proceeded to one of the most eloquent and powerful discourses that we have ever listened to. He divided his address into five headings—the first being the authority upon which all Christian faith and belief rests; the second the Catholic principles, and whether the Scripture per se, or Church authority, is to decide. The third was the infallibility of the Church while united. Dr. Rogers maintained that while the Church was united—during the first eight hundred years of its existence—it was infallible; but since divisions came, and its integrity was assailed, it was was not, or rather may not, have been infallible. The fourth point taken was the condition of the Church during the past thousand years, and the condition of the Church universal at the present day.

The fifth and last was the question, "What does the Church rest in?" and this he handled in a manner that showed that he was not an enthusiast, or the convert of an hour, but a deep, clear reasoner, and that he had studied the subject of which he spoke, well and thoroughly. He said that the Church did not rest upon the Bible, but the Bible upon the Church, it (the Bible, meaning the New Testament,) having been written and compiled after The Church was established. We have not the space to follow him through the course of argument proving this, but the course was convincing, and made a marked effect upon the congregation. During the course of his address flashes of eloquence lit up the otherwise argumentative oration, and when he came to the close—the bidding farewell to the flock that had followed his lead, many of whom he had baptised as children, and who had grown up under his very eye, and all of whom had known him for a quarter of a century, in his struggles with the world and against it—the scene was truly affecting. There was scarcely a dry eye in the house. Dr. Rogers, in conclusion, said that he had considered and weighed the question well, and had determined that it was not for him to withstand the edicts of those who, rightfully or wrongfully, are the leaders of a branch of the Church to which he held allegiance. Believing that the doctrines of the Church of Rome were right, he would go to them, and he implored all those who were, like himself, in the awful state of doubt, to make up their minds either not to resist or to go with him.

At the conclusion there was not a dry eye in the house, and we understand that many of those who thus far have followed the fortunes of Dr. Rogers have determined to go with him into the bosom of the Church of Rome.

THE CENTRAL M. E. CHURCH SOUTH.

Laying of the Corner-Stone.

An Imposing Masonic Ceremony.

Large Attendance.

A very large number of our citizens were present yesterday to witness the ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new Methodist Episcopal Church, on Union street, which took place at 3 p.m. The different Masonic bodies of the city turned out, and made an imposing appearance. The following deputy officers of the Grand Lodge of Tennessee conducted the ceremonies, which were of more than ordinary interest to all who were witnesses of a sight not at all common in this community:

R. W. S. G. W., A. J. Wheeler, acting as G. M.; Wor. H. J. Lynn, acting as D. G. M.; Wor. John Zent, acting as S. G. W.; Mr. Geo. Mellersh, acting as J. G. W.; Mr. J. F. Sellers, acting as G. T.; Ben. K. Pullen, acting as G. Sec'y; J. D. Stewart, acting as G. S. D.; H. P. Woodward, acting as G. J. D.; Rev S. Tasks, acting as G. C.; J. M. Pettigrew, acting as G. S. B.; A. P. Burdett, acting as G. Marshal; W. R. M. Mason, acting as G. P.; Jas. Haines and Geo. C. Harbin, acting as G. Stewards; W. S. Mathews, acting as W. G. Assistant; J. P. Lallemand, acting as G. Tyler; together with the members of South Memphis Lodge, No. 118; Lelia Scott Lodge, No. 289; and Riltwioning Lodge, No. 341, representing the M. W. Grand Lodge, escorted by Augerona Lodge, No. 168, and Hamilton Lodge, No. 299.

The Lodges formed in procession at South Memphis Lodge, on the corner of Madison and Second streets, and marched down Second to Union and out Union to the church, where an address was delivered by the Rev. R. A. Young, of Nashville. The reverend gentlemen traced the part taken by the Masonic fraternity in laying the corner stones of some of the most famous edifices dedicated to the service of God which have been built since the temple of Solomon first reared its head in honor of the Most High, but the extreme length of the discourse was severely commented upon, and was certainly out of place on such an occasion, causing hundreds to become weary and leave before the ceremonies which they went to look upon had commenced. After a discourse of nearly two hours in length, Mr. Young, the Grand Master, announced to the craft the object for which they were assembled, which announcement was followed by a prayer by Rabbi Simon Tuska. The following articles were then placed under the stone: A list of the officers and official members comprising the quarterly conference of the Central M. E. Church, South;

A copy of the Holy Bible.

A copy of the Discipline of the M. E. Church South.

A copy of the Hymn Book of the M. E. Church South.

A copy of the APPEAL Avalanche and Bulletin of the 15th, the Evening Ledger of the 14th, and the Memphis and Arkansas Christian Advocate of the 12th instant.

A specimen of the silver coin of the United States, and a copy of the proceedings of the craft upon this occasion.

After which the stone was fitted to its place and adjusted according to the interesting ceremonies of the craft.

The following appropriate and beautiful address was then delivered by the Grand Master:

Friends and Brothers: Thus closes the masonic ceremonies of this day. In ages that have passed these rites were extended almost exclusively to the noble structure and works of art built alone by masonic enterprise and intelligence. To our craft did the world look for the most skillful architects and workmen. Years, however, have rolled away, and our operative character is nearly forgotten in the beauty and glory of our speculative nature. The Mason always rejoices in any work of art that tends to improve man morally, socially, physically or religiously. The Jew and Gentile Mason is alike made glad in seeing churches, temples and synagogues erected among them. As Masons we know no religious sect or creed, but, believing in one living and true God, we alike pray to that common Father, Benefactor and Preserver, and doubt not, through the merits of the Lion of the tribe of Judah, of the resurrection and the life everlasting. While we claim none of the prerogatives of the sectarian creeds, yet the Mason rejoices at the prosperity and growing liberality of the churches. Bigotry and religious intolerance is giving way to a more liberal, universal and boundless charity. I know that my Masonic brother will not consider my giving undue acknowledgment when I say that we view the sect to which this structure belongs as one of the most liberal and tolerant of the various religious denominations of the day. It does not become us as Masons at this time to show what Masons, in a religious point of view, desire; that is to be learned in our lodge rooms; but we bid God speed to all creed, sect, society, or opinion that elevates or improves the heart of man. Forty years ago, in many parts of these United States, when the anti-Masonic excitement was sweeping over the country, a Masonic gathering and work of this kind would not be countenanced. Well do I remember of a certain Bishop of New York (himself a Mason) who felt unwilling to see his church erected without this time-honored custom; not being able, and unwilling to create ill feelings in his Church by introducing any Masonic rites, he took the Masonic ceremony and with slight changes made it appear as a Church service, and the public supposed it to be a religious form. For example, when he well knew and could have used the secret words which accompany each stroke of the gavel upon the stone, he substituted and spoke in a loud voice the words, "In the name of the Father, the Son and of the Holy Ghost." But the bigotry and intolerance of that day is passing away, and Masonry has now more to fear from the ignorant and unworthy within her folds than all the influences at work without. The most intelligent, religious, noble and illustrious men of this and passed ages have knelt at our Masonic altar, and in the great changes of human life and religious progress we doubt not that all religious orders, including the Roman Catholic Church, will ask, receive and accept our services on occasions like this. So sure as time flies, even so sure will this day come; but in the delays and dangers of its coming, let Church and Masonry unite in that charity which is the sweetest incense that can be offered to a God of Love.

Rev. Simon Tuska delivered the benediction.

NEW MEMPHIS THEATER.

Tennyson's "Dora," as Dramatized by Charles Reade.

The week that closed on Saturday night was not as satisfactory to the management as the public should have made it. Notwithstanding the presence of Mr. Couldock and his estimable daughter, both of whom appeared in a number of striking pieces adding to their characters for natural delineation of character, the attendance was such as scarely paid expenses. We hope better things of our people this week. The attractions of the race track are no longer is existence, and nothing of a kindred character will occur to interfere with a generous support of our theather such as our people used to give in ante bellum times. The week opens well. To-night we are to have a dramatization by Charles Reade (author of Peg Woffington and Foul Play) of Tennyson's "Dora," which for the benefit of our readers, we present this morning entire. It will help all who read it to understand the play, which, under the stage management of Mr. McWade and in the hands of Mr. and Miss Couldock, and the excellent stock company that now holds our boards, will doubtless be well presented. Here is the poem:

DORA.

With farmer Allan at the farm abode
William and Dora. William was his son,
And she his niece. He often looked at them,
And often thought "I'll make them man and wife."

Now Dora felt her uncle's will in all,
And yearned towards William; but the youth, because
He had been always with her house,
Thought not of Dora.

Then there came a day
When Allan called his son, and said: "My son,
I married late, but I would wish to see
My grandchild on my knees before I die:
And I have set my heart upon a match.
Now therefore look to Dora; she is well
To look to; thrifty too beyond her age.
She is my brother's daughter: he and I
Had once hard words, and parted, and he died
In foreign lands; but for his sake I bred
His daughter Dora: take her for your wife;
For I have wished this marriage, night and day,
For many years." But William answered short;
"I cannot marry Dora; by my life,
I will not marry Dora." Then the old man
Was wroth, and doubled up his hands, and said:

"You will not, boy! you dare to answer thus!
But in my time a father's word was law,
And so it shall be now for me. Look to't:
Consider, William: take a month to think,
And let me have an answer to my wish;
Or, by the Lord that made me, you shall pack,
And nevermore darken my doors again!"
But William answered madly; bit his lips,
And broke away. The more he looked at her
The less he liked her; and his ways were harsh;
But Dora bore them meekly. Then before
The month was out he left his father's house,
And hired himself to work within the fields;
And half in love, half spite, he wooed and won
A laborer's daughter, Mary Morrison.

Then, when the bells were ringing, Allan called
His niece and said: "My girl, I love you well;
But if you speak with him that was my son,
Or change a word with her he calls his wife,
My home is none of yours. My will is law."
And Dora promised, being meek. She thought,
"It cannot be: my uncle's mind will change."

And days went on, and there was born a boy
To William: then distresses came on him;
And day by day he passed his father's gate,
Heart-broken, and his father helped him not.
But Dora stored what little she could save
And sent it them by stealth, nor did they know
Who sent it; till at last a fever seized
On William, and in harvest-time he died.

Then Dora went to Mary. Mary sat
And looked with tears upon her boy, and thought
Hard things of Dora. Dora came and said:
"I have obeyed my uncle until now,
And I have sinned, for it was all through me
This evil came on William at the first.
But, Mary, for the sake of him that's gone,
And for your sake, the woman that he chose,
And for this orphan, I am come to you;
You know there has not been for these five years
So full a harvest: let me take the boy,
And I will set him in my uncle's eye
Among the wheat: that when his heart is glad
Of the full harvest, he may see the boy,
And bless him for the sake of him that's gone."

And Dora took the child, and went her way
Across the wheat, and sat upon a mound
That was unsown, where many poppies grew.
Far off the farmer came into the field
And spied her not; for none of all his men
Dare tell him Dora waited with the child;
And Dora would have risen and gone to him,
But her heart had failed her; and the reapers reaped,
And the sun fell, and all the land was dark.

But when the morrow came, she rose and took
The child once more, and sat upon the mound;
And made a little wreath of all the flowers
That grew about, and tied it round his hat
To make him pleasing in her uncle's eye.
Then when the farmer passed into the field
And came and said: "Where were you yesterday?
Whose child is that? What are you doing here?"

So Dora cast her eyes upon the ground,
And answered softly: "This is William's child!"

"And did I not," said Allan, "did I not Forbid you, Dora?" Dora said again:
"Do with me as you will, but take the child
And bless him for the sake of him that's gone!"
And Allan said: "I see it is a trick
Got up betwixt you and the woman there.
I must be taught my duty, and by you!
You knew my word was law, and yet you dared
To slight it. Well—for I will take the boy;
But go you hence, an I never see me more."

So saying, he took the boy, that cried aloud
And struggled hard. The wreath of flowers fell
At Dora's feet. She bowed upon her hands,
And the boy's cry came to her from the field,
More and more distant. She bowed down her head,
Remembering the day when first she came,
And all the things that had been. She bowed
And wept in secret; and the reapers reaped,
And the sun fell, and all the land was dark.

Then Dora went to Mary's house, and stood
Upon the threshold. Mary saw the boy
Was not with Dora. She broke out in praise
To God, that helped her in her widowhood.
And Dora said: "My uncle took the boy;
But, Mary, let me live and work with you:
He says I take you will never see me more."
Then answered Mary: "This shall never be,
That thou shouldst take my trouble on thyself:
And now I think, he shall not have the boy,
For he will teach him hardness, and unlearn
His mother; therefore thou and I will go,
And I will have my boy, and bring him home;
And I will beg of him to take thee back;
But if he will not take thee back again,
Then thou and I will live within one house,
And work for William's child, until he grows
Of age to help us."

So the women kissed
Each other, and set out and reached the farm.
The door was off the latch; they peeped and saw
The boy sat up betwixt his grandsire's knees,
Who thrust him in the hollows of his arm,
And clapt him on the hands and on the cheeks,
Like one that loved him: and the lad stretched out
And babbled for the golden seal, that hung
From Allan's watch, and sparkled by the fire.
Then they crept in; but when the boy beheld
His mother, he cried out to come to her:
And Allan said: "Take him, and Mary said:

"O Father!—If you let me call you so—
I never came a-begging for myself,
Or William, or this child; but now I come
For Dora: take her back; she loves you well.
O sir, when William died, he died at peace
With all men; for I asked him, and he said,
He could not ever rue his marrying me.
I had been a patient wife: but, sir, he said
That he was wrong to cross his father thus:
'God bless him!' he said, 'and may he never know
The troubles I have gone through!' Then he turned
His face and passed—unhappy that I am!
But now, Sir, let me have my boy, for you
Will make him hard, and he will learn to slight
His father's memory; and take Dora back,
And let this be as it was before."

So Mary said, and Dora hid her face
By Mary. There was a silence in the room;
And all at once the old man burst in sobs:—
"I have been to blame—to blame! I have killed my son!
I have killed him—but I loved him—my dear son!
May God forgive me!—I have been to blame.
Kiss me, my children!"

Then they clung about
The old man's neck, and kissed him many times.
And all the man was broken with remorse;
And all his love came back a hundred fold;
And for three hours he sobbed o'er William's child.
Thinking of William.

So those four abode
Within one house together; and as years
Went forward, Mary took another mate;
But Dora lived unmarried till her death.

WHO IS HE!

He is Not Known to Gov. Harris.

In the Nashville Union and American of Friday, we find the following:

WHO IS HE?—The New York Herald of Tuesday last, gives an account of the arrest, for drunkenness, of a rebel General, named Ramsay, who was attached to a Broadway firm in a subordinate capacity. Speaking of the arrest, that paper says:

"This man has had a remarkable history. Originally he was a Northern man who went South before the war. When it broke out he threw his fortunes in with Gov. Isham G. Harris, of Tennessee, whose friend he was, was commissioned Colonel of the Fifth Tennessee regiment, and rendered distinguished service in several battles.

"After the war closed he settled in St. Paul, Minnesota, and became attached to a daily paper in that city. A year ago he arrived in this city, and the gentleman who yesterday recognized him at headquarters found him in Park Row in a semi-drunken condition. He was taken to his hotel and cared for."

The Herald also says that he is a member of a distinguished New England family, and corresponds with and is related to some of the ablest statesmen in Connecticut and Massachusetts, and adds: "So much for his connection with the rebel cause." We are not very inquisitive, but would like to know who this remarkable man is.

The anxiety of our contemporary to know "who this remarkable man is," prompted us to inquire of Governor Isham G. Harris, who was kind enough to respond in the following note, which, so far as that portion of this individual's Confederate-Tennessee career is concerned, disposes of Ramsay and proves him as wanton a falsifier as he is unfortunately besotted in drunkenness. The Herald should relieve the Southern cause of its taunt of responsibility for the drunkenness of this man and publish the reply of our late Governor, as follows:

MEMPHIS, November 11, 1868.

Editors Memphis Appeal:

Gentlemen: I do not know of any officer by the name of Ramsay, who at any time held the rank of General in any one of the Confederate armies. Nor did any man of that name ever hold the rank of Colonel, or any other rank that I remember of, in the Fifth Tennessee regiment.

Nor have I any recollection of any Northern man of that name having been in any manner connected with the Confederate army. Nor do I remember to have, at any time, known any man of that name who was by birth a Northern man.

Very respectfully,
ISHAM G. HARRIS.

THE LATE HENRY M. SCALES.

Eulogy by Henry Craft, Esq.

From the Holly Springs Reporter of the 6th inst. we learn that on Tuesday, October 6, 1868, the members of the Bar of Tunica county, in attendance upon the Circuit Court, met to consider the death of Henry M. Scales, Esq., late a member of said Bar; and the Hon. Wm. L. Harris was called to the Chair, and T. J. Woodson, Esq., was appointed Secretary.

On motion, a committee of three, composed of Henry Craft, Thos. W. White and T. J. Woodson, was appointed by the Chairman, and instructed to report appropriate resolutions to an adjourned meeting to be held on Wednesday morning.

On Wednesday morning, October 7, 1868, the meeting having been again convened by the chairman, the committee reported an appropriate preamble with resolutions attached, which were presented to the Circuit Court by Mr. Henry Craft, who asked that they be spread upon the minutes, which was accordingly done.

On presenting the resolutions, Mr. Craft spoke feelingly of the worth and virtues of the deceased. Glancing briefly over his life, Mr. C. said: "That he was born in Orange county, Virginia, and early in life removed with his parents to Marshall county, Mississippi, where he received the instruction necessary to fit him for college. Having completed his collegiate course at the University at Oxford,—during which he formed many warm personal friendships, which continued in after life—he read law with the Hon. A. M. Clayton, and returning to the University, graduated also in the Law Department; after which he commenced the practice at Hernando, Mississippi, in partnership with Col. T. W. White and Gen. James R. Chalmers, which continued until the war commenced.

"Having enlisted with them in the old 9th Mississippi regiment, he went out among the first troops that were raised in the State. As a soldier, while ever among the foremost in the discharge of duty, and by his cheerful, kindly disposition and good natured humor, endearing himself to his comrades and enlivening the tedium and hardships of soldier life, he was still mindful of his duties as a Christian, and the bible which he carried with him through the war is still treasured by his wife. Returning at the close of the war, cheerfully and earnestly to peaceful pursuits, he lived with his mother and family in Marshall until January, 1867, when he opened an office and resumed the practice of his profession in this county, having meantime married during the year 1866. Here, as the frequent appearance of his name upon the docket of this court attests, he was building up a practice that evidenced a most gratifying success; and established for himself a character for strict probity and attentive industry in business that won him the esteem and confidence of the entire community. The non-resident members of this bar remember well his unvarying kindness and polite attentions to them while in attendance upon the sessions of this court.

"In August last, while on a visit of condolence with his wife to her sister, in De Soto, upon an occasion of mourning, he met his death by a casualty as sudden and unlooked for as it was distressing in its consequences.

"He has been cut down in his youth, when full of life and health and promise—full of hope and expectation—with a young and loving wife by his side, and a child just learning to lisp his name; with plans developing into success, and worldly competence and comfort coming to crown his labors and his thrift. Without warning, without dread, by one of those strange casualties, sometimes so trivial, sometimes so fatal, the death-blow fell, so sudden and so quick as almost to baffle comprehension of its reality.

"Just one year ago he stood in this very place, to speak, with great feeling and beauty, of the then recent death of his friend, Col. Day, who had also been a resident member of this Bar.

"His face and voice were very familiar here, and we are constantly reminded of him as his name recurs upon the docket, and he does not come to answer to it. He is gone to fill another of those newmade graves, whose tenants but lately stood with us before courts and juries, and whose voices now seem to utter, out of the darkness of the great unknown, the solemn—"Be ye also ready." One by one, the names are transferred from the attorney's roll of our courts to the tomb-stone, and to the long and ever lengthening catalogue of the departed. For each one of us, the inevitable hour more or less slowly approaches, but, oh! how surely; and—however much delayed—how fast! Whose name shall next be entered, in sorrowing resolutions, upon these minutes? At the next term of this court, perhaps, the question will be answered. Come when the summons may—whether meeting us at the verge of the grave to which we have been dragged by wasting sickness and suffering, or startling us in the midst of high health and the eager pursuit of life's labors and pleasures, may it find us, as it found Henry Scales, prepared. Coming so, it matters little when or where it may meet us, for while it is a summons to darkness and the grave, Faith whispers that thus coming, it is also a summons to immortal realms, where intellect may expatiate in endless development, and eternal health and vigor and love and purity, and joy, be found."

COTTON THIEVES.—On Saturday morning about 10 o'clock a one-mule dray, loaded with three bales of cotton, was seen leisurely going down the alley between Second and Third streets, in classic Pinch. The driver, a negro, was walking by the side of the mule's head, and on the dray, hid behind the top cotton bale, was a little nigger pulling cotton out of one of the bales and stuffing it in his sack. The driver seemed to be oblivious as to this proceeding, and the fact of his taking a back alley to come down from the depot is proof positive that he connived at the robbery and shared in the spoil. Unfortunately we could not get his number.

WOLFE'S
Schiedam Schnapps.

THE above Medicinal Beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at his distillery, in Schiedam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use.

It is now some twenty years since the proprietor first introduced it to the American public, and during that time he has received over three thousand letters from physicians, informing it as the purest liquor they have ever used in their practice.

It is made from barley of the finest quality, selected with great care from the products of the most celebrated grain-growing districts, is flavored with the essence of the aromatic juniper-berry of Italy, and is rectified by a peculiar process, which expels from the spirit every acrid particle.

As a means of preventing and correcting the disagreeable and often dangerous effect produced upon the stomach and bowels by a change of water—a visitation to which travelers, new settlers, and all unacclimated persons in the West, the South, and Southwest are peculiarly liable—the SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS will be found absolutely infallible; while in cases of dropsy, gravel, obstructions of the kidneys, diseases of the bladder, stricture, dyspepsia and general debility, it is recommended most emphatically by the most distinguished members of the medical profession.

It is put up in quart and pint bottles, in cases, with the name of the undersigned on the bottle and corg, and a fac-simile of his signature on the label. For sale by all respectable druggists and country merchants.

FINANCE.

There was no difference between this and other Saturdays which have faded away in the caverns of the past. Depositing and checking went on steadily, while an occasional big cotton buyer would walk in and through private passages not known to the uninitiated; would disappear from view, to turn up again inside the counter, where the question of "exchange" was no doubt the subject which was so earnestly poured into the ear of Cashier or President, as the case might be. "Commence checking on Monday," we presume, ended that buyer's trouble, and he would give way to another, who was probably upon the same business, or mayhap his place would be taken by some hungry reporter, who, (not being interested in the question of exchange, except so far as it would satisfy his readers to know of the fluctuations in the market,) would ask his stereotyped questions and receive perhaps equally as stereotyped replies. The offerings of cotton bills yesterday were very fair at some houses, and others again were unable to get all they wanted. Rates are therefore irregular. A few of our banking houses have regular customers, who are not led away by easier rates, which frequently can be obtained elsewhere, because they know that at no matter what time their bills are presented, and frequently a day or two before they have been received, the bank has advanced them the currency wherewith to purchase cotton and fill orders received by telegraph.

While, therefore, a large amount of bills were taken to-day at ½@¾c discount on all points East, there were transactions at ¼@½c discount. All Eastern drafts are sold at par, with occasional exceptions for large amounts.

The demand for Exchange is very good indeed, and comes from dry goods, shoe and clothing dealers, and to some extent from grocery houses.

Gold opened in New York to-day at 134¼c and closed at 134½c. There is an active demand for coin here, and our dealers have, in many instances, purchased in New York for shipment to this point. All lots offered are taken at 134¼@135c; selling at 135¼@136c. A sale of $15,000 was reported between dealers early in the day at 135c.

City Bonds are about as they were yesterday. An offer of 52c for a small lot was refused, the holder wanting 53c. We could learn of no sales.

City Scrip has presented no change to note. There is a good demand from dealers at 80@81c, but none offered. Selling at 83@85c to tax-payers in large and small amounts.

County Warrants are firm, with a large speculative demand at 75c. There is very little of this scrip held by outsiders. Brokers and dealers in it have succeeded in absorbing all that has not been taken in for taxes, and the tax-payer who has yet to buy will find it advancing daily. We quote dealers' rates 76@80c, with a few sales among street operators at 75c.

Police and School Scrip are firm and unchanged.

The following important report from Comptroller Blackburn, on State Finances, will be read with interest:

COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE, NASHVILLE, TENN., November 12, 1868.

To the General Assembly:

Gentlemen: In answer to your resolution requesting me "to report to the General Assembly how far the duties assigned by the act of September 5, 1868, entitled 'An act to regulate the finances of the State,' etc., had been performed; what amount of the July interest has been paid, and how; also the number of the overdue bonds of the State renewed," etc., I have the honor to submit the following report:

Interest paid in New York, from and including October 5, 1868, to November 7, 1868:

| | |
|---|---|
| Interest coupons | $818,445 00 |
| Interest on renewed bonds | 2,986 89 |
| Amount paid in New York | $821,341 89 |
| Interest paid here | 92,880 00 |
| Whole amount paid | $914,221 89 |

Paid as follows, to wit:

| | |
|---|---|
| Cash sent to New York from railroads | $200,023 00 |
| Cash sent to New York from State Treasury | 1?2,900 50 |
| Whole amount sent | $461,923 50 |
| Borrowed in New York | 400,000 00 |
| Amount provided in New York | $861,923 50 |

Of the $92,890 interest paid here, $54,560 was paid in coupons by the railroads, and $38,000 in cash out of the State Treasury.

The $400 000 was borrowed of the Fourth National Bank, of New York, at six per cent. per annum, using 700 six per cent. coupon bonds of the State as collaterals. The 700 bonds were ordered so as to serve a double purpose. First, to be used as collaterals; secondly, to renew the bonds that mature during this month and during 1869.

I have sent to the Fourth National Bank, New York, to be placed to the credit of my loan account, $260,000, leaving a balance against the State on the principal of the $400,000 borrowed of $140,000.

Overdue bonds have been renewed in New York on the 7th inst., as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Bonds due May 7, 1868 | $305,000 |
| " " January 1, 1868 | 2,000 |
| " " November 1, 1865 | 10,000 |
| " " July 1, 1868 | 4,000 |
| Renewed in New York | $321,000 |
| May bonds renewed here | 159,000 |
| Whole amount renewed | $480,000 |

Of the 1000 bonds ordered and prepared for renewing the May bonds, 159 were used in renewing here, and 1000 less 159 equals 841, the number sent to the Fourth National Bank, New York, in compliance with the act under which I have been operating, to be used there instead of here.

When in New York, President Calhoun, of the Fourth National Bank, delivered to me 102 of the May bonds, which he had renewed. They are here, canceled and filed in this office, together with the 159 renewed by myself before the act of September 5, 1868 as aforesaid.

I also brought with me from New York, the 300 bonds that had been used as collaterals there on a former occasion. They are in this office.

Your obedient servant,
G. W. BLACKBURN, Comptroller.

COTTON.

The Liverpool market opened dull, with a downward tendency—Uplands, 10¾d; Orleans, 11d—and at the close was easier but not quotably lower. Sales 8000 bales.

The New Orleans market was unsteady at the opening, and at 2 p m. it was dull and tending downwards—Middlings, 22¼@22¾c.

The New York market opened dull, with holders anxious to realize but prices nominally unchanged. At noon holders were still anxious—Low Middlings, 23c. At 2 p.m. it was dull and heavy, but holders, to effect sales, were unwilling to make concessions. At the close the market was dull and prices lower—Low Middlings, 22¾c; Uplands, 24c; Orleans, 24½c; Good Middlings, 25½c. Sales 1000 bales. Receipts for the week 8000 bales. Gross receipts 24,600 bales. Week's sales 13,000 bales. Exports since September 1st, 53,000 bales. Stock 24,000 bales. Receipts at all United States ports 74,000 bales. This shows an increase in the receipts at New York of 1000 bales over last week. An increase of 4000 in stock and 2000 increase in receipts at all ports.

Our market has been quiet and weak, though holders were not disposed to concede to the ideas of buyers, who wanted good style Middlings at 22c. Several odd lots were, however, sold at that figure, and we heard of shy Middlings going as low as 21½c, but not any regular sales. We quote as follows, holders asking our outside quotations:

|---|---|
| Ordinary | 20 @20½ |
| Good Ordinary | 21 a21¾ |
| Low Middlings | 21¾@21¾ |
| Middlings | 22 @22¼ |
| Strict Middlings | 22¾@23 |
| Good Middlings | 23 @23— |

TRADE.

Business to day was fair and stocks are better. Bulk meats are seen at various places along Front and Union streets, and the demand for them is growing. We quote Clear Sides at 17@17½c; Shoulders, 13@13½c. Bacon is some weaker; sales were reported at 19@19½c for Clear Sides in lots, but by the cask sales are made at 19½c. Corn is very dull. Several lots, amounting in the aggregate to about 2000 sacks, shelled, are now on the levee, and holders offered to sell at 80c, but dealers were not disposed to buy at over 75c.

The New Orleans Commercial Bulletin has the following on the subject of a river and marine shipping association. It is a subject of much importance to Memphis, and we give it entire:

The slander upon the peace of our city, and the facilities offered for shipping and receiving by rail from the territory which once belonged exclusively to New Orleans, have rendered necessary a system of business proper to counteract it. This implies that we must favor all through trade. To those who may not have read or remembered the argument on this point, it may be repeated. Through trade reduces the cost of our home trade out and in, by increasing the tonnage and so reducing the rate of ocean and river freights. It has other incidental advantages which are all summed in the axiom that "through freights are better than no freights." If we can secure a consignment to our city let us take it. If we cannot, the next best thing we can do is to make that through freight help to bring home consignments to our city. We have stated the impediments to our through trade to consist:

1. Charges of insurance, way and port charges and Custom House delays. There is, however, another cause, which relates to the navigation interests themselves.

It is a want of connection between the river and sea-going craft. Let us give an example. A river barge or steamer brings a cargo of wheat or flour for foreign or coastwise shipment. The flour must be consigned to a warehouse. There are about fifteen items of charge on this flour, amounting in round numbers to at least twenty-five cents a barrel. The transfer is attended with more or less delay, but the chief obstacle to the trade consists in the want of a proper understanding between the shipping interests which conduct these exports. Suppose this cargo arrives when there is very little empty tonnage, as must be always the case during the cotton season. There is a great temptation to the ocean shipping agent to raise the rates on the river boat or barge. When this division of the through freight comes to be made, the ocean vessel gets the larger share, and the river vessel may even sustain a loss. We may here state that a river steamboat recently brought down a lot of flour on a through bill of lading to Boston. The coast vessel that took the flour charged so much for the service that the river steamboat which had signed the bill, actually paid the ocean steamer $12 more than she received for bringing the cargo from St. Louis to New Orleans. Thus the river steamboat paid twelve dollars premium for the privilege of carrying that cargo.

Perhaps the shipping agent congratulated his owners when he reported the contract, but when the news of those rates reached St. Louis, it naturally had a tendency to discourage further shipments, and if the same agent shall have occasion to apologize to his owners because their vessels may be hereafter detained in port for want of freight, it will be but a natural consequence of an unwise policy. It is perfectly obvious that if the river craft do not bring freights to New Orleans, the ocean vessels cannot carry it away. It is equally plain that if the ocean vessels do not bring freights of merchandise to our port, the river craft must run back empty. Why, then, cannot these interests come together in council? Let them inquire whether it is possible to constitute a business that will go on all the year, instead of being limited to the cotton season, annually becoming shorter, by reduction of receipts and by steam shipments.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

Weather clear. The river is rising at this point but not rapidly. It has risen probably 30 inches in all since the swell set in. At Pittsburg, yesterday, there was seven feet in the channel and falling. The river at Louisville was stationary, with 5½ feet in the canal, but a small rise was looked for. The Mississippi is falling at St. Louis, and the upper streams are falling. At Cairo the Ohio rose two feet. The Arkansas has three feet to Pine Bluff, and thirty inches to Little Rock.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Dr. Watkins, of this city, is now President of the Mississippi Valley Navigation Company, vice Com. Ed. Montgomery, resigned.

The whole fleet which went from the Ohio river to the rivers and bayous of Louisiana, where they expected to devour freight like locusts, have been scratched, and must return from whence they came.

Capt. Dan. Able will command the Mollie Able hereafter, and Mike McCool will be her mate. Her crew will consist of "heavy weights" entirely.

The good steamer Argos, Capt. Sebree, with Mr. Coffin in the office, will leave to-morrow for St. Francis river.

The Guidon got away yesterday for the Arkansas.

The swift steamer Dexter passes down for New Orleans to-day. Com. Ed Montgomery will be found on the roof of this splendid packet.

The H. M. Shreve, Capt. Carter, with Mr. Worsham at the desk, passes down for Vicksburg to-day. The Shreve carries the mail, and makes all way landings.

The Romeo, Capt. Josh Throop, came in yesterday, and leaves to-morrow for Cairo and Evansville. She wants cotton.

The Natoma came in last night with 446 bales of cotton.

The John Kilgour, Capt. Benson, leaves to day for Cairo and Louisville. She is a fine side-wheeler, and can take 2500 bales on present water.

The Argonaut, Capt. Marsh Clark, backs out to day for Cincinnati and way points.

The Mississippi came in last evening from New Orleans with a good passenger trip and considerable freig t. She leaves on Wednesday for New Orleans, and we hope will have a first-rate trip. Nat. Green is master and Cook Creighton with John Langlois are clerks. Heilery, the famous, is her spiritual officer.

The Louisville and New Orleans Packet Company will send out two boats this week—the Louisville, Capt. Lush, on Wednesday, and the low-pressure Richmond, Capt. Neal, on Saturday.

Capt. Beasely, of the steamer Will S. Hays, at St. Louis, refused to receive a lot of muskets designed to be used by the loyal sealawags of Arkansas in decreasing Democratic majorities.

The United States mail packet Liberty, Capt. Rice, with Milt Harry in the office, backs out to-morrow for White river, making connection with the railroad at Devall's Bluff.

The Charlie Bowen will be sold by the U. S. Marshal at Point Pleasant, West Virginia, on the 1st of December, and the Nettress at Gallipolis on the 16th of November.

The light and handsome Ozark, with Capt. Blaisdell on the roof, will get away to-day for Pine Bluff and all way points on the Arkansas, connecting with packets for Little Rock and Fort Smith. She carries the United States mail, and is prompt as a chronometer. Mr. Outlaw is her chief clerk.

The reliable independent steamer Des Arc, Capt. John Elliott, gets away today at 5 p.m. for Augusta and way points on White river. She makes all connections, and is a fine packet. Joe Miller and Matt Glass fill her office creditably, and are popular officers.

All the mines below Evansville have quit work, on account of a strike among the miners.

The Natoma, Capt. Lee, is the regular Friar's Point packet to-morrow. She leaves at 5 p.m. Billy Fields is her chief clerk, and his assistants are Sterling Whitehead and Stack Lee.

The Belle Memphis, Capt. Crane, will leave to-day at 4 p.m. for Cairo and St. Louis. She is an elegant passenger packet, and connects with the trains North and East. Billy Blenker is her clerk.

In the case of S. A. Hubbell vs. Western Union Railway Company, for injuries received by the explosion at the steamboat landing, which has been on trial at Chicago for several days, a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $12,000 has been rendered by the jury.

The railway bridge over the Mississippi river at Quincy is finished. The first train of cars passed over it on Friday last. The structure is pronounced to be very satisfactory in all respects.

The Tennessee was to have left Louisville on Saturday for this port.

The following circular will be found interesting to river men:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, October 30, 1868.

The department is informed that at most of the ports of delivery on the Western waters, other than those on the frontier, a great diversity of practice exists in the collection of fees from steamboats and other vessels; and that also at most of said ports exorbitant fees are collected for which the officers of the customs have no warrant whatever in law. In order, therefore, to correct such abuses, the following list of fees is published for the benefit of all concerned, and officers of the customs at ports on such Western waters are informed that the exaction by them of any other or greater fees for the services mentioned in said list than are therein specified, will subject them to prosecution under the law and the infliction of severe punishment.
